Clubhouse Improvements Will Continue! (and a few updates of note)

Message from our president

The Alliance is also looking into the repair and replacement of the carved wood street signs that are deteriorating. We all need to come together and do the things that protect our property values and create a satisfying living experience.

The Alliance is currently planning a fund raiser for a playground with security fence that this neighborhood sorely needs. More information will be forthcoming. Nathan Galie is heading that committee and could use your help, especially you young families.

On another note, Jim Carroll has once again done a magnificent job with the new directory. The new member column is a great indication of how many people support the neighborhood through their Alliance membership. If you see some friends that have not yet joined please encourage them to do so.

For those of you along the gas line replacement, and anyone else interested, The Alliance invited a team

A Grand Opening celebration was held on Sunday, April 26 at the clubhouse to thank the clubhouse bathroom renovation committee for completing our new clubhouse restrooms. It was a great example of how this entire neighborhood is moving forward. The toilets renovations were the first phase of an overall plan to improve the entire property. The Alliance and the FHA shared the costs.

The next phase will include a fence on the patio with a gate to the pool and a handicap ramp from the clubhouse door. This will allow the public use of the patio and help with more rentals. Except for the kitchen sink, the clubhouse and patio will be ADA compliant.

There are conceptual plans to improve the assembly area of the clubhouse with more closet space, opening up the room, kitchen renovations and new flooring. The FHA and The Alliance are hoping to find the funds to complete that work in the near future.

Annual Pool Opening and Cookout set for Saturday, May 16!

The Falconbridge Pool will open for the season on Saturday, May 16. The Falconbridge Alliance again joins the Falconbridge Homeowners Association in sponsoring the Annual Pool Opening and Cookout.

It's a Free Swim Day for everyone from 10 AM to 8 PM. From 11:30 to 1:00, we'll be grilling up hamburgers on a brand spanking new grill (well, almost new) donated by Conni and Alton Rivers. Thanks to the Rivers! There will also be hotdogs and cold drinks, and everyone is invited to bring something for Potluck: salad, chips, veggies, dessert.

Residents who have turned in their membership packages can pick up their annual passes and guest passes. Those who haven't signed up can register in person and jump in the pool right away.

Pool Opening
COOKOUT 11:30-1pm
Bring side or dessert.

And finally... Drum roll, please... the Recreational Facilities Committee (formerly known as the Pool Committee) has just announced that for 2015, the annual Initiation Fee has been waived! Yet another reason to join us for a summer of swimming, paddling, and splashing in the clear blue sparkling water, and meditation, contemplation, reading, or dozing as you choose beneath a poolside umbrella. Yes, we've got some new umbrellas, new picnic tables and indoor/outdoor drink tables, too. Is that cool or what?

(Thanks to David Kolenberg for the umbrellas, the FHA Landscape Committee for the picnic tables and to the Mah Jongg group for the indoor/outdoor tables.)

And let me, on behalf of the other members of the Falconbridge Alliance Board of Directors, welcome James Ashmore onto the Board, filling the vacancy created by Nancy Laney's departure. We are delighted to have him be a part of our team, knowing the many skills (and charm) he brings and shares with Falconbridge. The scope of his responsibilities will be identified and introduced to him slowly, in order to avoid possible shock.

● ● UPDATE: Alliance-Sponsored Social Events • News Updates Meeting Held to Discuss Gas Pipeline Impact

PSNC Energy plans to replace a major pipeline which will cross common areas as well as the yards of Falconbridge property owners. The exact start date for work to begin is dependent on a number of variables but will be announced as soon as that information becomes available. Again, dependent on construction variables the project

Heavy construction equipment will be used and everyone is cautioned to keep their distance as it will be a very dangerous activity. Kids need to be kept away from the construction even when no activity is going on.

Trees and fences inside the easement will be removed. Fences will be relocated at the easement line, trees and bushes will not be replaced.

PSNC will meet with every affected property owner

PSNC will be meeting this summer with every property owner affected by the activity to address their individual concerns. Lawns will be restored to grasses of the property owner's choice.

Property owners along Vauxhall Place will need to park elsewhere when the concrete is removed where the line will be installed. Concrete will be replaced.

PSNC will bore under the roads so we don't expect any traffic disruptions but heavy equipment and trucks will be traveling in the neighborhood so walkers need to be alert.

John T. Gaffney, (803-730-6635, jgaffney@utilityland-service.com) is the point person for specific details, including which properties/locations will be directly impacted. As more information becomes available the Alliance newsletter, the website and the listserv will keep the community updated. We are asking for a large map showing the location of the work and it will be posted in the clubhouse (possibly the website as well) for all to see.

will take about 60 days. Surveyors have already begun their work and the path of the pipeline can be seen by following the yellow flag markers.

This is a major construction project, replacing the original pipeline installed in 1952. The existing 10" line will be replaced with a 12" new state-of-the-art "smart" pipeline. The pressure in the line is 800PSI and does not connect to any homes. It supplies a reducing station that the home distribution system comes from.

Lawn/flower beds will be replaced

The path of the pipeline is 8,000 feet long. There is a 35' wide easement for the line and PSNC will likely use most of it for the construction. The line will be 4 to 5 feet deep. Along this path, where necessary, trees, bushes and flower beds will be cut away. Lawn/flower beds will be replaced, as well as "invisible fences" and underground watering systems to their original condition; trees and bushes will not be replaced. Before construction begins residents who will have their property directly impacted will be contacted by managers overseeing the project.

425 Eggs Hidden and Found! And Clubhouse Celebration

Easter Egg Hunt

On Saturday, April 4, 29 children along with 29 parents and grandparents came together on a beautiful sun filled morning to participate in the Annual Easter Egg Hunt. Twenty (four and under) little ones found candy-filled eggs in the upper grassy portion, while nine (five and above) went down to the “meadow” for more sophisticated hunting. Included were several special “sparkling eggs” with silver dollar candy inside. Over 425 eggs were hidden by Lisa Anthony, Mike and Marcia Mayo, Conni Rivers, and Al Bugg. Within 30 minutes, all were found; Al Bugg took pictures of the gaiety. All came into the Clubhouse for cookies, juice boxes, and iced tea for the adults. (Lesson learned: do not buy iced cookies, and parents only let children have one juice box!) I took this opportunity to remind everyone that the Alliance Membership paid for this event, encouraged each family to join the Alliance; and that the Pool Membership information is now available. Many thanks for all the help I received. Cleanup was done by all those mentioned above, plus Karin Kolenberg (the Social Chair on the Pool Committee, who attended and also helped).

Clubhouse Open House

On Sunday, April 26, an open house was held at the clubhouse to introduce the improvements that were made over the winter. Yes, the new ADA-compliant restrooms are ready for use! Many thanks to John Noble and the members of the Renovations Committee – Darren Byerly, Jim Carroll, Marese Casey, Larry Charny, Paula Clarke, John Noble and Satyen Shah - who made this happen. It was a large undertaking and anyone who remembers the state of the facilities last year will appreciate the changes.

An Afternoon at the Bijou with the Falconbridge Film Society

“The Godfather” has had a momentary set-back – but you can’t keep a good don down for long.

We discovered that time constraints of a Saturday morning showing did not permit viewing “The Godfather” (which runs for 3 hours) and have all the other features we wanted. And so, alternatively, the intention is to have the film showings on a weekday afternoon, from 1:00 until...well, until we have gotten all that we came for.

The concept remains the same: revisiting a good movie, with introductory background, a private screening with friends that share similar interests and fond recollections of first encounters with the film, shown on the big screen with state of the art projector and sound system and a post-screening discussion validating why the film is important, personally, artistically and historically. Admission remains at : $10 (cheap). And that includes popcorn, a drink, a Warner Bros. cartoon and an episode of Buck Rogers with Buster Crabb. (The only thing missing will be a theatre matron with her flashlight telling you to keep quiet. In her place will be a designee to tell Larry to keep quiet – which should significantly increase the pleasure of the event.)

We hope to have you join us. So please contact Larry or Mike – and take that opportunity to let us know which days of the week seem most workable. And also let us know which films you would like to propose to begin the festival. Some suggestions received: Astaire and Rogers in “Top Hat” and the Marx Brothers in “A Night at the Opera”. Larry will personally deliver the message to Vito Corleone that, indeed, he does not sleep with the fish – he remains, waiting in the wings.

● ● Architectural Review Committee: News for homeowners

Lookin' Good!

Ralph Wikstrom's and Jan Youngman's front yard at 6600 Glen Forest Drive slopes steeply downward toward the street. Not only inconvenient, this configuration was a safety hazard, especially when mowing the lawn. So, Ralph and Jan received a proposal from Joe Baughman, with Stonescaping Incorporated of Chapel Hill, to build a brick retaining wall that would lessen the steep grade and provide more usable space for landscape plantings. A simple sketch plan was submitted for Architectural and Landscaping review, and was quickly approved by the Falconbridge Alliance Board. As the before and after photos below illustrate, the results were very successful.

The retaining wall is yet another excellent example (and a reminder to all) of how the Falconbridge property Covenants and Architectural Guidelines help enhance the visual appeal of our neighborhood.

Congratulations to Ralph and Jan for an outstanding project!

PLEASE KEEP YOUR DOG OFF MY LAWN!

Making Falconbridge an Even More Pleasant Place to Live

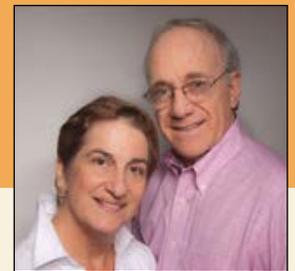

Dog pee kills our plants. Not only do we have to replace the plants, we have to replace the dog urine soaked soils. Train them, reason with them. The bottom line: Please CURB YOUR DOG! No peeing or pooping on landscaped yards. The Alliance supplies the neighborhood with 6,400 dog waste bags each year. If more are needed they will be supplied.

There have been several expressions of concern about people blocking driveways while picking up their mail. Please be considerate and leave the driveway clear.

The power lines that go through Falconbridge are an easement on private land. While inviting, those lines do not provide a public trail, they are on private land, owned by Falconbridge home owners. Please do not hike along the power lines paths.

Neighborhood Watch Report May 2015 Newsletter

Two recent break-ins

We've had two break-ins recently on Ridgefield and Dunbrook. They appear to be part of a rash of such crimes in the immediate area.

At the April PAC (Partners Against Crime) 3 meeting, Lt. Mark Morais of the Durham Police reported that they think two or three separate groups are involved, organized and operating over several counties. In some cases, the M.O. involves an older individual driving younger people (who have no records and no fingerprints on file) through suburban neighborhoods in cars. When they find a suitable house, one of the young people gets out, approaches it on foot and knocks on the door to learn if anyone is at home. If someone answers the door, he asks directions to a nearby street and leaves. If it's empty, he breaks in through either the front or back door and goes through the place looking for electronics and jewelry. He usually leaves quickly and is picked up by the driver. They seem to be looking for houses with a lot of privacy, so that the sound of breaking a lock or sliding glass door is not noticed. They also favor houses that are close to major highways and roads, such as Farrington Road for quick getaways.

Lt. Morais also said that recently they located and raided a house that one gang had been using. In it they found electronics, jewelry, and equipment for melting down jewelry.

Another officer, Lt. Keith Johnson, reported that there have been 61 B&Es (Breaking and Entering) in Durham over the past few months. Of those, 41 homes had no alarm systems. Of the 20 that had alarm systems, ten were turned off.

As criminal activity goes, this is one of those bad-news/good-news situations. The bad news is that it's difficult to prevent this kind of thievery. These guys have identified common suburban weak spots and they exploit them. The good news is that they are not interested in hurting anyone. They only want the stuff we own that they can easily carry away and convert into cash.

As has been noted before, if you see anything that causes you to be at all suspicious, call 911 right away. Do not approach strange people or cars. Write down or photograph license numbers and auto identification information (make, model, color) only if you can do it safely. Let the police handle these guys.

One more thing. At the PAC meeting, I was elected Co-Facilitator, replacing Conni Rivers whose term expired. Conni, of course, is irreplaceable, but I'll be working closely with the police, as she did, and will continue to make sure that they're looking out for us.

TIP

Do not showboat your possessions:

Leaving certain things lying around your yard or in plain sight from the road can unwittingly lure thieves onto your property. First, if you have a bicycle or scooter that someone could easily walk away with, roll it inside or into your garage. Also, after purchasing a new plasma screen television or other pricey electronics or appliance, don't leave the box out beside the trash can or recycling bin to tell people you have something brand spanking new that could fetch decent dollars on the street. It may also leave them wondering what other goodies are inside your home. You may be showing off too much to people walking by your house as well. Open up your curtains, blinds or shades and stroll around the house and see what's visible. If you have a number of expensive items within plain sight or near windows, think about doing a minor redesign to move them out of view.

TIP

Keep areas lit up outside:

If burglars can tell that someone is home, there's a greater chance that they won't attempt to break in. Remember, more break-ins occur during the day when many people are at work. For that reason, when you leave the house, create an illusion that someone's still there. You can leave a light on, along with music or your television for good measure. You can also mentally fake them out by putting a home security system sign in your yard. This won't guarantee they won't test out whether it's valid, but it could deter them. According to the Office of Community Oriented Police Service, most residential thieves stay away from houses with such signs. of the tips in a nice short video from the West Midlands Police. 'Tis the season – to ready your disaster supply kit and plans before hurricane season begins on June 1 (til November). Consult the national weather service website (www.weather.gov/rah) for more info.

Have you visited your compost pile lately? Check it out before adding the summer "bounty". And, how much are you spending on mulch? And your print newspapers? As our neighbor, Tammy, who recently asked for newspapers to mulch her vegetable garden, reminds us that this is an excellent and inexpensive way to keep weeds down and out. After some time, the papers will decay but do remember some seeds are very long-lived, such as seven years for stilt grass.

Slugs and other soft-bodied invaders? Discourage them by using rings of ash from last winter's wood fires around any tender targets to keep these pests away.

Mulch all new plantings before the heat begins to really build; keep them on a regular watering schedule if rains don't come. Landscapers have in the recent past advised to keep watering newly planted woodies for two years; invest in a tree gator(s). Water is critical to onions and cucumbers which respond very poorly to irregular watering. Prevent blossom-end rot on tomatoes and peppers now. Keep them well watered and mulched to prevent them from becoming stressed and thus more susceptible.

Check out some of the new varieties of perennials being offered, new sources of native plants (and let us all know), and support your local growers.

Meet Your New Neighbor

Nate and Melanie Childers

Nate and Melanie recently moved into 2105 Ridgefield Rd. They come to suburban Falconbridge from the historic Reynoldstown neighborhood close to downtown Atlanta .

Nate, a network administrator for Nimble Storage, a technology company that provides flash storage solutions company, was transferred to the company's Triangle branch in south Cary in early March. Melanie is still settling in, and her crafty talents are keeping her very busy. She likes building and refinishing furniture, quilting, and knitting. She has a Masters degree in Instructional Design but is considering a career change to something part-time and fun, like becoming a barista, if she can't find "the right job" in her professional field.

Both of the Childers enjoy board games and online gaming. They look forward to discovering area trails for walking and running.

Their "loves" are their two Italian Greyhounds, Ozzie and Phoebe. Undoubtedly, walking Ozzie and Phoebe already has helped Melanie begin to meet some of our neighbors who are part of the friendly Falconbridge dog community,

Falconbridge Foodies: It's All Greek to Me

On our journey around the world, the Falconbridge Foodies return to the home of Zorba and Giorgios Bakatsias. Giorgios is a longtime restaurateur in the Triangle with local stars like Vin Rouge (French) (and Parizade (Italian) in Durham; and Bin 54 (Steakhouse), City Kitchen (eclectic) and the relatively new Kipos (Greek) in Chapel Hill. I have eaten at all but Bin 54 and they are all very good with great variety and high quality preparation.

But I want to talk about Kipos, Giorgios' terrific Greek restaurant on West Franklin. I have had his lamb chops, spanakopita, fish plaki, moussaka, pastichio, and a superb octopus salad and I am getting very hungry just thinking about their delicious flavors. The portions are large – especially the moussaka and pastitsio – so you might want to share or plan on leftovers at home. Kipos has a full list of authentic Greek dishes and a fine selection of Greek wines and beers. Lunch is a great time to go because the crowds are smaller and the noise level is less (it can get a bit loud at dinner). It is also a great place for a group of people to share lunch or dinner.

And as Nikos Kazantzakis, Zorba the Greek, said, “Every man has his folly, but the greatest folly of all ... is not to have one.” Go forth and enjoy.
