BJ Attwood

I am relatively new to Falconbridge and love the sense of community and friendliness of people here. My professional life before Chapel Hill involved public relations work and advertising for major national clients. Over the last 10 years I've volunteered for non-profit organizations doing public relations, volunteer coordination and development, and fund raising. I am currently the Promotions Director for Chapel Hill Pickleball, which I see as a fun sport and important social support system for retired people. Its physical and psychological aspects have prompted me to work with medical and social services people in developing senior and youth programs.

Stephanie Curtis

I am a geneticist recently retired from a career at N.C. State University. Ron Swanstrom and I moved to Falconbridge over thirty years ago and raised our daughter here. We love this friendly and active community and hope to live here for many more years. I look forward to serving on the Alliance Board and helping to nurture and further the welcoming and vibrant spirit of our wonderful neighborhood.

Walt DeGrange

I have lived in Falconbridge since 2015, after moving to the area following 21 years in the U.S. Navy where my primary job was in logistics. I've lived all over the world. My last duty location was Monterey, CA. Now Director of Analytics Capabilities for CANA Advisors, I recruit, develop, and enable a team of analytics professionals to produce high-level products across federal and commercial domains. I am also a faculty member at the University of Arkansas in the Operations Management graduate program, and an MBA Executive Practicum Advisor at the N.C. State University Poole School of Management.

Sara Morris

I love my new home in N.C. where my husband Ian and I have now lived for just over two years. I also loved my life in Connecticut teaching the wonderfully varied and challenging subjects of Latin and Greek Mythology. Originally from the Philadelphia suburbs, I was among the first women to attend Franklin and Marshall College in 1969. To England as a grad student, teacher of Latin, and wife of a Brit. Back to the U.S.A. in 1979 to teach kids aged 10-18. Mother of two, grandmother of four. Thank goodness 6909 Knotty Pine Drive was available three years ago!

Van Noah

I work in a small non-profit research and education organization that teaches business principles to defense and other government professionals. I moved here from Greensboro where I managed the N.C. Baker Engineering office; before that I was the engineer for the N.C. Global TransPark. I also served in the U.S. Army for 10 years, part of that time in the 82nd Airborne Division. My wife Meena and I are approaching our 14th year in Falconbridge and I've participated in several community efforts, including the pond committee and the south Durham odor project. We feel fortunate to find such a great place to live.
